

Diocese Of Aberdeen and Orkney Scottish Episcopal Church

Are you an ordained Writer, Artist, Musician?

If so, would you consider working with like-minded members of the Orcadian Community as a House for Duty Priest?

Here, in the heart of Stromness in the beautiful Islands of Orkney – a vibrant community - lies St Mary's Church.

We are a small but diverse and growing congregation noted for our welcome and hospitality, our outreach and creative activities.

St Mary's is inclusive, confident, and outward looking and includes clergy and lay readers willing and able to fulfil occasional duties. We hope that this will allow you to pursue your vocation both as priest and artist, be that as a writer, painter, composer...

You will be:

- an ordained member of the Anglican communion or in a denomination in full communion with the Scottish Episcopal Church
- ecumenically minded and willing to develop links with local churches and the wider community.
- a sensitive and consensual leader
- an inspiring preacher and a caring and compassionate guide

We offer a newly refurbished house for duty plus overheads and expenses appropriate to the post, and the support of a committed congregation.

Interested, but unsure about Orkney?

We invite you to get in touch with us for informal conversation to help you decide!

Please refer to <https://stmarysstromness.aodiocese.org.uk> for more information